

JULIE CUMING, Brass

Julie Cuming was born and raised in Guelph, Ontario and left home in 1983 to join the Canadian Forces Regular Force Music Branch. During her 36-year military career, she served in the Royal Canadian Artillery Band, QC, the Stadacona Band of the Royal Canadian Navy, NS, and the 36 Canadian Brigade Group Band, NS. She also instructed at the CF School of Music in Borden ON for several years. As a freelance horn player, Ms. Cuming has performed with the Kitchener Waterloo Symphony, Symphony Nova Scotia, Symphony New Brunswick, the PEI Symphony Orchestra, Nova Sinfonia, and other recording artists such as Il Divo. She has also been a clinician with several NS Youth Ensembles as well as with the Atlantic Band Festival and several local schools. She is currently the Acting Principal Horn of Symphony Nova Scotia. Ms. Cuming holds a music performance degree from Dalhousie University. She lives in Bedford with her husband, John, and Boston Terrier, Stella!

